- Q-4. Make a précis of the following paragraph and assign a title to it: 10
Misers are generally characterised as men without honour or without humanity, who live only to accumulate, and to this passion sacrifice every other happiness. They have been described as mad men who, in the midst of abundance, banish every pleasure, and make from imaginary wants real necessities. But few, very few, correspond to the exaggerated picture; and perhaps, there is not one in whom all these circumstances are found united. Instead of this we find the sober and the industrious branded by the vain and the idle with the odious appellation; men who by frugality and Labour, raise themselves above their equals and contribute their share of industry to common stock.
Whatever the vain or the ignorant may say, well were it for society had we more of this Character among us.
