However you will need the measurements of the Face to place an online order for the size of glasses to match your features. Best consider These problems before ordering. The SizeFrames Size frame is indicated by three numbers: the width of the lens, the width of the bridge on the nose and the length of the temple, the lens width is shown first. It is the width of a lens in millimeters, the next issue is the width of the bridge or the distance between the lenses, in millimeters, the The width of the lens and the width of the bridge are usually separated by a small square. The last number is the length of the temple, or the length of the arm that dates back to the ears, even in millimeters. Only for a lens width of 54 mm, a width of 15 mm and a length of the bridge temple of 143 mm frame size it would appear something like this: 54 Å € -Å;15 - 143. Read more: How Can I measure my glasses? Lenses raising the lens height is simple. This measure is indicated when you buy online glasses to help you give you an idea of the style that will complete your appearance. It is not normally part of the measurements indicating how to adapt to a frame, though. Pupiling distance when searching for confirmation of your face form, you must also think about the distance between your students. The PD is equally essential for the function and aesthetics of the glasses style chosen for your vision. Your PD measurement must be accurate so that lenses promoted clear vision. The accuracy of this measurement is particularly vital if you need bifocal, trifocal or progressive goals. If your PD is too big or too small, you will experience the distortion of your vision, and your glasses don't work as they should be alleged. The online store will generally show you how to measure your pupiling distance and offer suggestions for which glasses styles will work for you in a specific PD range. An equally option is sighted. It is an app to measure your pupiling distance and confirm your vision prescription Gunchyson says that it can measure your PD in less than a minute.Weight and Material Frame The weight of the glasses is a critical factor because the frame must match the weight of the lenses. A robust frame is suitable for the most thick goals, while a more delicate frame is appropriate for the more subtle lenses. Your correction values often determine how often the lenses must be the lenses, whether you are myopic or or or Check the online store you want to shop to see if they provide advice to help you make the right decision. Additional guide Search for additional guidelines to indicate if the glasses style is appropriate for use with bifocal, trifocal or progressive lenses. You should also check if the frame is available with or without comfortable nose bearings. The style choices think about the purpose of your glasses once you satisfied you know the shape of your face. Do you want to order special glasses when playing the sport, works in front of a screen for long hours, or do you just need them for normal daily wear? The purpose of glasses will make the difference with the selected style. For example, styles of sunglasses are often larger than light glasses.
